IMPERATIVE NEED FOR SISAL

Not a Soda Fountain Gas, but the Stuff Necessary to Make Binder Twine.

If the United States had not sent several warships to Progreso, Yucatan, to force the free exportation of sisal, which had been forbidden by Carranza, the American farmers would now be in terrible straits.

Sisal hemp is used to make the binder twine for harvesting wheat and the farmers will need a lot of it this year for the bumper crop. Sisal is also grown in Java, East Africa, the Bahamas and the Hawaiian islands, but little has been exported from those places since the war began. It was therefore necessary that Carranza's prohibition be brushed aside and that the free exportation of sisal be allowed. As soon as this began the exports for June, 1915, jumped to 123,350 bales as compared with 80,208 bales for the same month in 1914. In June, 1914, sisal was bought for 29 cents (Mexican) per kilo, a kilo being about 2 1-5 pounds, while in June, 1915, the price paid for sisal was 104 cents (Mexican) per kilo. The tremendous increase in price is due to the heavy demand for it, which is increased by the fact that it is impossible to import from Europe products that might replace sisal in making binding twine.

AN UNDERSTUDY.

"I'm glad my husband got a motor car."
 "You enjoy the rides, eh?"
 "Yes, and the car gets a lot of the blame that used to come my way."

SEEING FATHER.

"Young man, is there any insanity in your family?"
 "Why—er—yes. I'm crazy about your daughter."—London Opinion.

GETTING AWAY FROM BIZ.

"I know one fellow who never mentions the weather."
 "Who is he?"
 "A meteorologist."

GENEROUS.

"You are a married man, tell me how to win a wife."
 "You don't need to win one, you may have mine."

PREPAREDNESS.

Business Mail—I shall spend my vacation in training for soldiering. His Wife—I shall put in the time in training to spend a pension.

Unusual Offer To Our Readers.

For a limited time, and subject to withdrawal after 30 days, the well known publishing house of the J. B. Lippincott Company, Philadelphia, founded in 1792, offers to the readers of this paper a 12 months' subscription to "Lippincott's Magazine" and a year's subscription to the Kentuckian, both for $3.00. This is the price of a twelve months' subscription to "Lippincott's" alone. Additional to obtaining every issue of this paper for a year, our readers will receive in "Lippincott's," 12 great complete novels by popular authors, 106 short stories, crisp, entertaining, original 45 timely articles from the pens of masters, and each month some excellent poems with the right sentiment, and "Walnuts and Wine," the most popular humor section in America. To obtain this extraordinary offer prompt action is necessary. Remit to J. B. Lippincott Company, Washington Square, Phila., Pa. Advertisement

SEES WEALTH IN THE LAND

Chinese Philosopher, Chang Chien, is Called the Ben Franklin of That Land.

The Benjamin Franklin of China, the sage philosopher of the celestial land, is Chang Chien, the modern minister of agriculture and commerce whose one idea is to put his country on a sound economic and social basis by improving the land.

Mr. Chang was born sixty-two years ago. His father was a wealthy land owner of Haimen, a country town in Kiagsu province, near the mouth of the Yangtze river, a great cotton-producing district. As a boy he saw the horrors of the Taiping rebellion, which stirred him to help his country to better things.

In the old regime the gateway to success in political life lay in scholarship, and Chang passed the highest in his province and became noted in China for his learning. But he did not bury himself in books. On the contrary, he devoted all his energy to founding and maintaining elementary, agricultural and technical schools, as well as charitable institutions. Furthermore, he was responsible for increased production in his province both of crops and factories. Land reclamation, fish hatcheries and the improvement of waterways were also on his program.

A PESSIMIST

"I don't believe one knows what true happiness is till one marries."
 "And then he has given it up forever."

MISLED.

"Why did you accept him, anyway?"
 "Because he proposed to me in the handsomest automobile I ever saw."
 "I don't see what that had to do with it."
 "It had a great deal. I thought the car was his."

DOMESTIC TILT.

"Why do you persist in propping your feet up on the veranda railing?" asked Mrs. Cobbles.
 "I guess it's just my contrary nature," answered Mr. Cobbles. "The veranda railing is one thing you have never been able to put where I can't find it."

AN OLD STORY.

"I believe the world is getting worse instead of better. Look at what happened to the cathedral of Reims."

"Tut, tut, man! The world is no worse than it used to be. Look at what happened to King Solomon's temple."

THE REASON.

"Candidates for office in Rome wore white robes to show their political purity."
 "Then 'tis no wonder Rome howled."

AN OUNCE OF INVENTION.

Knicker—They are trying to improve our navy.
 Bocker—Yes, an ounce of invention is worth a pound of cure.

A MERE TRIFLE.

She—I'm worrying about my new bathing costume.
 He—That's little enough to worry about.

OVERDUE.

"Queer summer, isn't it?"
 "Yep. The 'is-it-hot-enough-for-you fennel' is about six weeks overdue already."

SMALL AMOUNT.

Mrs. Meyer—Could you give me a little money, my dear?
 Mr. Meyer—Certainly, my dear! About how little?

THE THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION OF THE NEW YORK WORLD

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly. No other Newspaper in the world gives so much at so low a price.

The year 1914 has been the most extraordinary in the history of modern times. It has witnessed the outbreak of the great European war, a struggle so titanic that it makes all others look small.

You live in momentous times, and you should not miss any of the tremendous events that are occurring. No other newspaper will inform you with the promptness and cheapness of the Thrice-a-Week edition of the New York World. Moreover, a year's subscription to it will take you far into our next Presidential campaign.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only 1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and Hopkinsville Kentuckian together for one year for $2.65.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $3.00.

Optimist and Pessimist.

Optimist is derived from the Latin optimus, best, that being the superlative degree of bonus, melior, optimus, good, better, best. Pessimist is derived from pessimus, the superlative of malus, pejor, pessimus, bad, worse, worst. Optimist, therefore, represents the best in everything, and pessimist exactly the opposite or the worst. An optimist is one who looks on the bright side of things and takes hopeful views, while a pessimist sees only the dark side. The two words have figurative applications in religion, in politics and in everyday life.
